There are about 15 - 20 pages you would probably want to see. If that's not too many for you to receive I don't mind faxing it. You can always call me from the office with the fax number when you're ready - I can even leave it with my assistant when I'm away from my desk in case you get her instead of me.

It's finally winter here, too. Of course that's nothing compared to you guys - it might get down into the 30's at night and 40's in the daytime. It's only really bad when it's that cold and it rains. Brrrr. It was probably pretty smart of Delta to send those planes to Cincinnati since as a hub they could probably get them on connecting flights to wherever they were originally headed more easily from there than anywhere else (of course a lot were probably headed to NYC and the flights there the next day must have been packed!).

Aside from a quick one-day trip to New York I haven't had to do any traveling lately - I'll probably be going to Portland in early March and Amsterdam mid-March. I may try and get to South America sometime in February but nothing is scheduled yet.

Love, Mark
