Subject: tonight

Hello,

We have you guys signed up for coming to the study group tonight. Please let me know if you aren't coming.

We may also want to spend some of the time discussing some of the FT articles that Levine mentioned may be on the final:

It is just an exciting time to be taking macroeconomics...

I) Be sure to follow the rise in interest rates in UK, ECB, and US. We will be discussing the pros & cons of each region's rise. Try to decide if the ECB or the FT editorials (today pp. 12 & 13) are correct on the need for the ECB rate increase.

II) You might also glance at articles on falling real estate prices in Japan (p. 4), and the article on Daewoo's bankruptcy (p. 12).

III) Yesterday's FT had a long editorial on markets for the inputs into global warming (Thurs. 11/4, p. 14). What are the pros and cons of markets for controlling externalities of this global sort?

IV) Hint: A typical set of exam questions might be...
Consider one of the following nations that have had special sections in the FT this term: Ireland, Brazil or Ghana.
1. What is are 1 or 2 of the most serious threats to short-run growth in GDP for this nation?
2. What short-run fiscal or monetary policies are appropriate?
3. What is are 1 or 2 of the most serious threats to short-run growth in GDP for this nation?
4. What longer-term policies are appropriate?

See ya tonight,
Jackie
