Guys,

Attached is a resume for a guy I know via technology and a very old parental friendship. He is a very aggressive guy and marketer type. He has the personality to be an originator or mid-marketer. He would pound the phones.

Follow up if you want to talk with him.

I am going to forward on to technology guys too but wanted to give you first crack.

Mike

Subject: Origination Opportunities in Global Markets

Hello Mike,

It has been a while since my last communication with you. I hope all is well.

I want you to know that I greatly appreciated you helping me get in touch with Ken Rice and all of the other folks at EBS last year. We made great strides and came very close to doing a deal between our organizations. However, Comdisco recently has come under some financial duress and is most likely going to be sold off in pieces.

I have been talking with some of the folks within EBS about the possibility of an origination position with their group. However, I am of the opinion that EBS is slightly ahead of the market, and therefore the timing may not be right for me to consider an origination position with EBS.

With that being said, I would be very interested in exploring what opportunities might exist within your Global Markets group from an origination standpoint. As you know, I am professionally aggressive, mentally tough and fearless of contacting potential clients. I have solid experience in professional selling, possess excellent communication and entrepreneurial skills.

Mike please consider the attached resume below. I would welcome the opportunity to meet with you or the appropriate person within your organization at any time.

Thanks again, and I hope to hear from you.
